

Hello Fourth Grade Families!

We are so excited to get to work with you next year! We don't want to overwhelm you with a lot of information about next year, so we'll keep this short and sweet. We know the students have worked hard all year, and they deserve some free time, but we need to keep those brains sharp this summer. There are just a few things we're asking them to do.

1. Please complete the Grammar Summer Solutions workbook and the Math Summer Solutions workbook.
2. Read The Lemonade Crime by Jacqueline Davies. This is the sequel to The Lemonade War that they read in third grade. Since I'm told they all loved that book, I'm hoping this will help keep them interested in reading! There's no project that needs to be completed over the summer; we'll just do some work with the book for the first couple of weeks of school.

Wishing you a fun-filled, relaxing summer!
