Hello everyone!

Summer is quickly approaching! I trust that your kids have had a great year in third grade and are excited about moving on. I am so excited to meet this next group of learners. There are a lot of differences between third and fourth grade. You will be amazed, as I always am, at how quickly your children adapt. I hope that you all have a restful, fun, rejuvenating summer!

Students who will be in fourth grade next year have a project to do in LA/Reading over the summer.

Students should read Tales of a Fourth Grade Nothing by Judy Blume. (I have 8 copies that were left behind by the current fourth grade. If you want one of these instead of buying it, let me know. Email me at ldriskell@ht-school.org, and I'll send it to your child's homeroom.) There is a list of project choices on the back of this page. Please choose one and have your child bring it to school on the first day of school. Students will give a short presentation to the class about what they chose.

I'm looking forward to working with you all!
